PRESENTACIÓN Y CONTEXTUALIZACIÓN

The subject is included in the Materia "Organización, dirección y gestión de centros", it has an eminently applied character and is aimed at providing reflection tools to review our own beliefs and practices concerning the school in democratic societies. In this social and political context, a school should be good for everyone and not just for some. Therefore, SCHOOLS FOR ALL assumes two fundamental ideas:

- Schooling is still the way for people to make a living, so compulsory education should be good for every student.
- Every student is able to learn, and schools should be safe places for learning.

SCHOOLS FOR ALL intends to offer ideas, resources, and examples for students to imagine and develop schools that meet those initial assumptions.

SCHOOLS FOR ALL is an optional course (6ECTS) integrated in the study plan of the GRADO EN PEDAGOGÍA (4th year, second term).

It is related to EDUCACIÓN INTERCULTURAL (4th year, first term).

The competencies developed in this field are:

- To manage quality, improvement, and innovation processes in educational contexts.
- To work collaboratively.
- To use effectively the tools required to build knowledge for successful societies.

Schools for All helps shape students' professional development by providing them with the knowledge and tools they need to work in schools in a way that ensures equity and cultural recognition.

REQUISITOS Y/O RECOMENDACIONES PARA CURSAR LA ASIGNATURA

A B2 level or similar in English language is required.

The course can be taken without meeting any prerequisite except for a B2 level of English.

CONTENIDOS

Part A. Schools for all: what does it mean?

This first part of the course is devoted to explaining what 'a school for all' means. In a democratic society, compulsory education must be good for everyone, that is to say, it must provide all the learning experiences necessary to achieve the objectives deemed valuable. Equity is an essential prerequisite and requires the provision of flexible spaces where the diversity of ways of understanding and being in the world, of learning and communicating, is recognised. There are three central themes, as specified in the private section of this chapter.

Part B. Schools for all into practice: how does it work?

The second part of the course explains how to put a commitment to equity into practice by recognising the diversity of students, their families and their communities. It offers ideas and resources for creating meaningful learning experiences, with a particular focus on the essential communication between families and the school. This part is divided into three topics, as detailed in the private section of this section.

METODOLOGÍA

SCHOOLS FOR ALL is organised in two parts.

The student is required to make the compulsory readings and tasks by using the virtual space (chats and forums). The study guide will be available to help the student organize the work to do during the four months (February-June) and reach the learning results proposed in this guide. All the readings required to prepare the tasks will be available in the virtual space (Documents folder).

The course employs a methodology specific to distance learning, in which access to the online course and active participation in discussion forums and virtual seminars are essential (general forums and tutorial forums). In addition, students have access to other UNED resources such as radio programmes, video lectures and video conferencing.

The study guide is the basic tool for organising independent study in the course, as it includes both general recommendations and basic information. It provides a clear overview of what is covered and what is required of students to successfully achieve the course objectives. In addition, open-access documents and resources are available to students from the start of the course. Completing the activities requires the use of the compulsory reading material as well as personal reflection on prior knowledge and experiences, including personal ones, such as those gained as a student, teacher, tutor, advisor, etc.
